

What Will Set You Free

Certified Coach

Debbie McDonnell

Debbie's joy is introducing others to the Power that is available to us all. She is a dynamic speaker and an outgoing, energetic presence. She is grounded in spiritual principles and is passionate about supporting others to create the life they have dreamed of living.

Debbie hails from a large Italian family and is the second oldest of 12 children, she has the experience and knowledge of working with the dynamics within a family system. She has been an active member of 12-Step Recovery since 1988 when she started her own spiritual journey. She works with young adults and those recovering from addiction.

A long-time student of metaphysics with an unquenchable thirst for knowledge, she was introduced to New Thought teachings in 1990. In 2005 she became a Licensed Religious Science Practitioner, and in 2014 became a Science of Mind Minister. Debbie has a master's degree in Consciousness Studies. She is a certified, What Will Set You Free coach.

She is a mom to two young adults. Her daughter, Brianna, owns an LA-based production company and her son, Sean, is a professional basketball player in Europe. Relationship with family is one of her highest values.

Debbie is also a licensed Kaizen Muse Creativity Coach. She is a creative soul that loves to create beauty in all forms, whether on canvas, in her home, in her garden or in supporting others to create the Masterpeace they are.

Contact Debbie at theartofgod@gmail.com