

What Will Set You Free

Certified Coach

Cynthia Santana

I have devoted much of my life to my own personal development. My belief in learning and progressing has been evident in many of my own life choices, mistakes, and decisions. I feel my past challenges and struggles give me hard-won skills and a passionate faith that others can also achieve personal success. I am committed to supporting clients in a kind and purposeful environment without my ego coming into play.

Having completed the “What Will Set You Free” coaching program I will provide an empathic and affirming setting for client life transformation. My attention is focused on my client’s hopes, needs, and goals.

I have held many positions of responsibility and am conscientious about both encouraging others' growth potential and keeping healthy boundaries. Please feel free to reach out to see if I am the coach for you.
